* All patients are carefully monitored under anesthesia, including pulse/blood oxygen and respiratory monitoring. To further minimize risk, especially in older pets, we recommend a pre-anesthetic blood screen. This screening test is similar to those used in human hospitals to ensure your pet has no hidden medical problems not detectable on a physical examination. This test will assess your pet's liver and kidney function. This blood screen will allow us to take necessary precautions if abnormalities are detected. The cost for pre-anesthetic blood screen is $78.80

YES, I want my pet to have the pre-anesthetic blood screen.

NO, I do not want the pre-anesthetic blood screen at this time.

* For pets undergoing teeth cleaning: I understand that loose teeth may be extracted at the doctor's discretion for additional charges. Antibiotics and pain medications may be given and/or dispensed.
